New York, Sept. 12.—The fate of the Fabre liner Sant' Anna reported on fire in the Atlantic ocean on her way from New York to Naples, is still unknown. After spending several hours today in an effort to get into communication with her commander, Capt. Pavy, agents of the Fabre line have admitted their failure. The Sant' Anna carries 1,939 persons, according to a summary issued by the Fabre line agents at 10.15 a. m. today. "Those on board the steamer were as follows: Passengers, 1,764; first cabin, 17; second cabin, 44; steerage, 1,703; crew, 175.

The following message was sent to the offices of the Fabre line in Marseilles by James Elwell and Co., agents of the line in New York: "Steamer Sant' Anna in distress on fire, and in need of assistance. Position, latitude 40.23 north, longitude 47.30 west."

(Special to The Herald)

Between 1600 and 1700 Italian reservists are passengers on the liner, according to the New York agent of the line. The ship also carries a large cargo of merchandise, chiefly food stuffs. It was stated by Howard E. Jones, a member of the firm of James Elwell and Co., that the liner carried no munitions of war or inflammable materials of any kind. The Sant' Anna is registered at 5813 tons.

BELIEVE HELP IS STANDING BY

(Special to The Herald)
Halifax, N. S., Sept. 12.—Belief was expressed by officials of the marine and fisheries department that rescue ships are standing by the Sant' Anna, and the fire on the liner is under control. It was decided by the Canadian government not to send any ships to the aid of the Sant' Anna because of the distance of the ship, 1,100 miles away when the fire was reported.

GERMAN AMBASSADOR AT WASHINGTON

Calls on Secretary Lansing in Relation to Arabic Incident.

(Special to The Herald)
Washington, Sept. 12.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, made a desperate attempt today to clear up the new differences between the United States and Germany, which are threatening to imperil at least diplomatic relations between the two countries. He came to Washington and called upon Secretary Lansing at noon prepared to explain from the German point of view the latest Arabic note. The ambassador said that this note was incidental to the submarine question which has been the grave danger point at all times in relationship between the two countries. The ambassador, it was learned, takes the position that his note to Secretary Lansing places Germany on record as agreeing to protect neutral lives on passenger liners. He feels that Germany has gone as far as she legitimately can. "The Arabic is an incident and one which can be settled through diplomatic channels, is the opinion of the ambassador. Just how successful the German ambassador will be in the present negotiations no official was willing to hazard a guess. High administration sources frankly admitted that they had found it impossible to reconcile the statement of the ambassador that full satisfaction would be accorded the United States if Germany was at fault. With the positive assertion in the Arabic note that if the commander was to blame Germany still saw no reason why she should pay indemnity. They were inclined to believe that the ambassador has been "double crossed" by the authorities. In order to thoroughly understand what action should be taken Secretary Lansing held a conference with the President prior to his hearing with the ambassador.

UNITED STATES IS WILLING TO ARBITRATE

Washington, D. C., Sept. 12.—The U. S. is willing to arbitrate the question of Germany's liability for the loss of the two American lives on the Arabic. Secretary Lansing explained to the German ambassador during their conference today. It is understood that the secretary and the German ambassador were in perfect agreement on the Arabic note.

PORTSMOUTH WON FROM SALMON FALLS

FAST GAME PLAYED SATURDAY
AND HOME TEAM CLEANS UP
3 TO 1.

The game Saturday afternoon in which Portsmouth defeated Salmon Falls 3 to 1, was about the best game played here this season. And Portsmouth redeemed themselves for the poor showing they made at the game a week ago when they were beaten by a 10 to 4 score. There were enough sensational plays pulled off Saturday to last a season. Williams of the Salmon Falls team pulled a great catch off Ralph Brackett in the sixth and A. Renaud in center made another catch off Woods on the next ball hit. Henry Swasey, and Jordan also played fine for the visitors.

On the local side of the game Timmons, Tredeak, Pilgrim and Ralph Brackett played star games. Tredeak's catch of Williams' fly to center in the sixth looked like the big league stuff as he made the catch within an inch of the ground after a hard run. Ralph Brackett made the same kind of a catch off Jordan in the seventh but in order to prevent any dispute whether it was caught fair or was a "pick up" he drove it to Walter Woodard first for the put out.

The Game

1st Inning.—Brown fled to Butler at third. F. Swasey was out on a sliding hit. A. Renaud was thrown out at first. Pilgrim to Woods. No runs.

Jack Timmons fled to A. Renaud in center. Tredeak fanned. Brackett was out at first. Jordan to F. Swasey. No runs.

3d Inning.—Atus singled. Brown sacrificed. Pilgrim to Woods. F. Swasey was safe at first on Harrington's error. Atus was out at the plate attempting to score. Harrington to J. Bailey. A. Renaud fanned. No runs.

Butley was out on a foul fly to Vreeland. Pilgrim was thrown out at first. E. Renaud to F. Swasey. Timmons hit for one base. Tredeak scored him with a triple over third and he scored on a wild pitch. R. Brackett was out at first. Atus to F. Swasey. Two runs.

4th Inning.—H. Swasey fled to Timmons. Vreeland hit for two bases. Williams singled, scoring Vreeland, and stole second. Jordan was out at first. Pilgrim to Harrington. To Woods. E. Renaud was out at first. Pilgrim to Woods. One run.

WILLIAM M. JOHNSTON ENTITLED TO ALL HONORS IN NATIONAL TENNIS TOUR-

NEY—SCENE IN JOHNSTON-M'LOU GHILIN CHAMPIONSHIP MATCH.

New York Sept. 12.—Lawn tennis experts are still talking over the recent match between Maurice McLoughlin and William M. Johnston for the championship in singles which was held on the courts of the West Side Tennis Club at Forest Hills. Before the games the majority of the experts believed that McLoughlin would have an easy time in defeating Johnston, but many others who watched Johnston right through the tourney especially after his defeat of K. Norris Williams, holder of the title at that time were of the opinion the youngster would carry off the honors of the tourney. In his match with McLoughlin, Johnston played brilliantly throughout. Later mean an income of over $200,000 for both clubs.

Dominant Won Nearly $20,000.

L. S. Thomson, owner of the race horse, Dominant, has just finished counting the Saratoga winnings of the son of Delhi—Dominant. The total is $19,135. That represents the winnings of the horse in his four starts at the New York state track.

Dominant won the Hopedale Handicap, with a purse of $9659 attached, the Saratoga Special, worth $5125, the U. S. Hotel race worth $3950 and got $700 for finishing in the Grand Union stake.

Grover Cleveland Alexander has gathered into himself a $1000 bonus. His 1915 contract stipulated that he was to get $1000 above his fixed salary if he won 25 games or more games. Alex, annexed his 25th victory a few days ago by blanking the Giants and the check for $1000 now is duly deposited in the bank.

Why Not Quit "Laying."

The "layers" who have been operating on the New York State race tracks are yawning. They claim that they have been victimized by wretches to such an extent that they never have been able to make more than break even.

Bookmaking is barred in New York state. Verbal bets are made. The "layers" claim that very often when race track folks place bets with them and lose the losers never show up whereas when the "layers" lose the winners always know where to find them.

Johnson No Longer Idolized.

Walter Johnson, once the idol of the fans in Washington and around the American League circuit is no idol no longer. Freedom seems to have soared on the "Speed King" probably because of his springtime stunt of flopping from one league to another and then back again.

Johnson decreased the affection the fans once had for him during the winter by assuming the position that he was for sale to the highest bidder and then he killed that affection almost entirely by his stunt of first jumping to the Reds and then jumping back to the Senators when Charlie Griffith offered him something better.

Heavy Batters Are the Rage.

The heavyweight batters are becoming quite the rage again and they are sure to have a busy winter.

Year ago a "white hope" had quite a job securing a match at any recent guarantee. The market was glutted with them—and the public was tired of seeing them wallow around the ring like sea sick elephants. But the yearning of the fans to see some husky developed to a point where he'd have a chance against Jess Willard has caused the heavyweights to become the rage again.

Frank Moran and Jim Coffers are expected to engage in a slugging contest late in the fall and about the same time Charlie Welton, the "knock-out" kid from Newark, N. J., and Gumbel Smith will settle their differences. The winner of these fights then will meet to decide which one shall meet Jess Willard—provided Jess can be coaxed into the ring.

Darcy Outgrowing Division.

Lee Darcy, middleweight champion of Australia, plans an early visit to the U. S. A. for the purpose of soaking some of our middleweights on the law or on other vulnerable parts. But unless Darcy casts anchor here mightily soon he may not carry out his purpose, as he may outgrow the middleweight division within a few months.

Darcy is only 19—and he's growing every day. That means extra weight. The limit for his division is 160 pounds and Darcy has put on so much bulk in the last month or two that he'd have quite a job now making 160.

Kilbane Sensitive About Legs

Johnny Kilbane is just about as sensitive concerning his legs—in an uncovered state—as is Vern Castle; that is when ladies are around. Johnny has legs that are the superlatives of skinny and Johnny hates to display them in the presence of ladies.

Several times during his workouts for important bouts his manager, Jimmy Dunn, arranged a "ladies day" at his camp, but Johnny always affixed the veto to such plans because he said the business of displaying the pedals whose nimbleness have won him a fortune, "is embarrassing to me and the embarrassed feeling affects my work."

Californiaans yearn for the return of pugilism in their state. The fans have been disconsolate since the legislators ruled out the professional battlers and a movement is now afoot to put up a boxing bill to the new legislators, one that calls for 20 round decision bouts.

What Happened to Freddie?

And in the meantime, we pause to ask:—

"Where is Frederick Welsh?" Begins to look as if Frederick is sick, dead, or afflicted with grief or something like that. Otherwise, wouldn't Frederick be jumping higher and higher gathering in a crop of gold for treating the fans to a dancing exhibition?

Last reports had it that Welsh was somewhere along the Pacific coast!

NATIONAL LEAD COMPANY

TWO AEROPLANE FLIGHTS MADE AT HAMPTON BEACH

35,000 ATTENDED LAST DAY OF
CARNIVAL HELD YESTERDAY

Sunday was the closing day of the Hampton Beach Carnival and a crowd estimated between 30,000 and 35,000 was present. Residents of the beach claim that the number of persons and automobiles at the beach was greatly in excess of any Sunday this season and the car service to points in Massachusetts and New Hampshire was taxed to its utmost capacity.

At 4.30 Claudiey Redding and Philip Bullman made a successful aeroplane flight. Bullman made a parachute drop from the machine. Quite a strong wind was blowing off shore and he landed in the ocean about a quarter of a mile off shore, directly in front of the Casino. As there was no boat to pick him up he swam ashore towing the parachute.

Redding later made a second ascension this time being accompanied by Miss Blanche Thompson of Haverhill, Mass., the queen of the carnival.

The carnival was brought to a close Sunday night with a grand illumination of the entire beach.

Owing to the great success of their first carnival the Hampton Beach board of trade propose to make this an annual feature as the attendance during the past week has far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of the promoters.

"Resting up." That expression has a funny sound for New Yorkers who saw Frederick in action around these parts during the past year.

One rests after one grows tired but the New Yorkers cannot understand what made Frederick tired unless it was the job of counting his rapidly growing beard. Surely Frederick couldn't have grown tired through fighting around New York, because the fans are sure he never fought here.

TIN HORN SPORTS.

Salmon Falls Rooters on a Rampage at the Ball Grounds.

Salmon Falls and South Berwick sent down a bunch of tin horn sports to the baseball game here on Saturday who certainly were out of place with the stuff called "rooting", which they are used to pulling off in their home towns. Part of them took seats in the grand stand and the others flopped on the bleachers near first base where they continued yapping. (not rooting) much to the annoyance of the spectators who wished to see the game without listening to such a hoisterous aggregation. The gang in the grand stand opened up by calling the umpire a "thief" on the very first decision he made against the visiting team. Their steam gave out a little later when they saw that the home crowd and home team paid no attention to unreasonable yelling, but the gang near first base continued their rampage which at one time was marked with profanity in the presence of ladies. Along toward the last of the game they got "reckless" and wanted to bet some money on the next inning. Some sailors took them up, and after turning their pockets inside out, and collecting as much as a quarter a piece from the whole outfit, they managed to get a few dollars together which the Jackies took from them. From that time they took the count and went home with all kinds of excuses as to why their team lost.

The Salmon Falls players appear to be gentlemen, but the rooters that came with them to Portsmouth, may as well be impressed first as last that the rough stuff they are accustomed in pulling off in the home town, don't go here.

PORT DIRECTORS WANT BIG MERCHANT MARINE

Meeting Opens Today at Los Angeles and American Shipping will be Discussed.

The directors of the Port of Boston, Edward P. McSweeney, Joseph A. Conry and Leonard Williams are doing all that is possible for a Public Commission to do for the immediate development of a permanent merchant marine. The subject "Problems of Port Development" is to be discussed at the Convention of American Port Authorities at Los Angeles, Cal., to last three days, beginning today. In speaking of the present export conditions in America, the Boston men have the following statement to make:

"The artificial stimulation of trade due to the export of war orders has given our wage earners an opportunity for employment, but this flurry has operated to obscure the vitally important question of the permanent extension of our export trade on a normal basis. If the war should cease tomorrow it is likely that thousands of our country would be thrown into great disorganization and wage earners especially would suffer."

"Of the present trade balance of one billion dollars in favor of the United States, over seven hundred millions are exports solely for war purposes—ammunition, horses, auto trucks, army shoes, food stuffs, etc.—trade which will cease the instant the war comes to a close. This leaves a balance of only three hundred millions of exports of what might be termed 'regular merchandise,' an export smaller than that of any year before the war."

"Comparing the present year of exports from the United States with that of the year before the war, we find we have exported only 32 per cent as much agricultural implements—52 per cent as much sewing machines, and 33 per cent as much steel rails. The most lamentable fact in connection with these figures is that we are losing as much if not more to the countries which are not at war, as to those which have given up domestic pursuits to take up armed conflict."

"Last year's figures show that our sewing machine export trade in 1914, was only 54 per cent of the 1914 figures to South America but 20 per cent, and to all of Africa, Asia and the Pacific islands it was but 35 per cent of the corresponding previous year."

"Our exports of the staple merchandise which we hope to sell under normal conditions after the war, are smaller by a large percentage in practically everything except war orders, and we are losing our export trade much faster to the neutral countries than to the belligerent ones."

"In view of the situation which will inevitably arise when the country returns to a normal basis, it is important that the people should know the factors working against the establishment of an American Merchant Marine and the rehabilitation of our ports."

The situation will be fully discussed today and Mr. McSweeney, chairman of the Boston Directors, has prepared a paper which he will present today. His paper will give the entire country the views of an official who has made a deep study of this situation and he and others interested in the development or the rebuilding of a solid American Marine, hope to gain a limited action towards the removal of the handicaps now threatening such a permanent establishment.

A summary of Mr. McSweeney's article follows:

"The first step toward erecting a building is the clearing of the site of obstacles and debris. Applying the same general principle to the up-building of the ports of the United States and the creation of an American Merchant Marine, the United States must clear away all obstacles which tend to work against the free flow of traffic and the businesslike administration of our ports.

These obstacles are summarized as follows:

First—Politics of all kinds which make port development and port administration a football for selfish ends; the misuse of port appropriations for party spoils and the employment of political contractors; tariff politics and political rigger and harbor appropriations; the high cost of lying in the United States and the need of cooperation and industrial efficiency.

Second—The new shipping bill, added to former oppressive shipping laws which increases the cost of running ships under the American flag to a point that makes impossible the investment of capital in marine property.

Third—Placing into the hands of the foreign shipping trust which has been shown to be the most powerful opposition to the development of our American ports and the greatest restriction to the free growth of an American Merchant Marine.

Fourth—Port differentials which give an artificial disadvantage to some ports to the advantage of others.

Fifth—The lack of a uniform system of harbor dues. Dues are now made only in regard to local conditions concerning which it is here recommended that a study be made by a committee of this association to the end that a logical and uniform system of dues, fair in proportion to the service rendered, be established.

These and other minor obstacles which have been enumerated must be swept away before the United States can begin to form any comprehensive plan for port development and prepare the way for an American Merchant Marine.

Sixth—Public vs. private ownership of water-front properties. Development of all water-front property should be under public control, if not ownership. This control or ownership should include not only water-front property, but industrial and warehouse sites, railroad and belt-line connections around the port. Whether operation of the port shall be in public or private hands is a matter to be settled by the exigencies of each local situation, but ultimate public ownership and control of all port properties is the end to be desired.

FRANCE WILL CONSIDER RECRUITING IN AFRICA

Paris, Sept. 11.—Deputy Pierre Masse has prepared for introduction in the Chamber a bill providing that natives of French colonies and protectorates be recruited for service in the army.

It is estimated that this step would add 700,000 men to the forces in the field by next spring.

The excellent service given by the large number of natives now at the front has resulted in the proposal that they be used on a much larger scale.

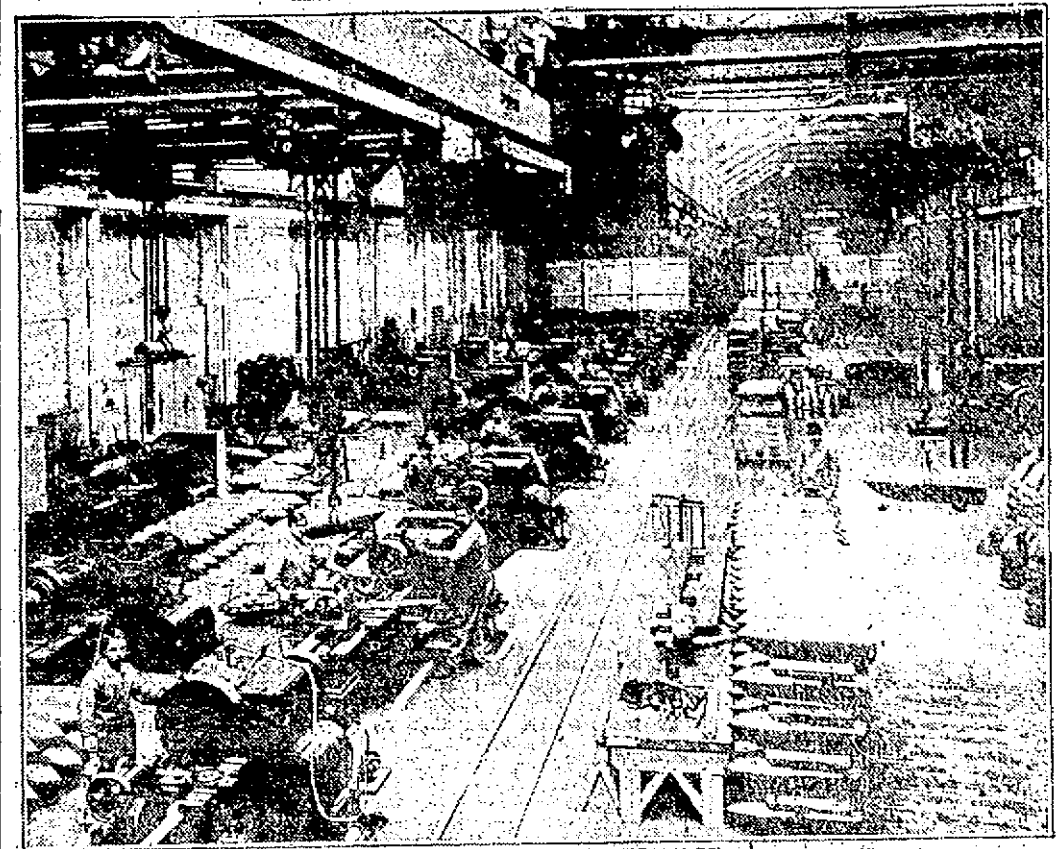

Leading French statesmen have had under consideration for some time the vast recruiting field which lies open to France in the colonies, especially in China and Equatorial Africa. The main features of the bill which M. Masse will present to Parliament when it re-assembles were proposed by Gen. Mangin, who has a distinguished record of service in Morocco and the Sudan.

If the plan is adopted the new army of Colonials will be composed largely of colored troops.

WAR MUNITIONS FACTORY IN FRANCE.

Photo by American Press Association. (An accompanying illustration is shown an official French war office photograph of the interior of a war munitions factory in France. All the munitions factories in France today are turning out shells and other missiles and weapons of war at a tremendous rate. While the allies' forces on the eastern front have suffered from a lack of munitions, those on the western front have not been hampered, and this is due, in a great part, to the industry of the war munitions factories in France.)

CONSULAR ACTIVITIES

More or less publicity has already been given to the activities of the Department of Commerce in extending its service to the business men of the country showing any interest in foreign commerce. But it will stand repetition, if for no other reason than that here democratic America shows that it can actually do more for business and do it as well as even the efficient state socialism of Germany or the highly trained diplomatic British service. Possibly our government is not necessarily such a mountain of inefficiency and bungling, judging by this readjustment.

The entire consular service, representing every corner of the world, has been transformed into an information gathering machine. Consuls, commercial attaches, and commercial agents have had new instructions to study business conditions in their particular localities, discover business opportunities for American manufacturers and merchants, and report by mail or cable to the central office at Washington. The changes are immediately gathered together and distributed to some 13,000 manufacturers by means of a daily paper published under the direction of the Department. The same names are classified to the most minute detail, and in special instances the notification of an opportunity is done through confidential correspondence. In addition to the Commerce Reports, the editorial division prepares the studies of the special agents and consuls on foreign markets and distributes the books at cost price. The hand book on Russia gotten out in this way is probably the most accurate and thorough work on Russian commercial conditions. Dr. E. E. Pratt, chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, has the country divided into eight districts, as a further aid to collecting and distributing trade information, including tariffs, export and import statistics. Government red tape has been discarded, and business men have been put in charge of the business places. The reports distributed among the manufacturers are simple and readable, because a newspaper man was made editor. Dr. W. C. Huntington, who has been placed at the head of the Chicago office, proved his efficiency in the steel corporation before entering the government service, besides having had several years of European residence. He is authority for the statement that the American system is superior to the German or British, without taking into account the further extensions planned. Special agents have been secured to send to other countries, in addition to the ones already in the field. They will report on the possibilities of increasing trade where American goods are already on the market, or the means of getting a foothold where American-made goods have not yet appeared.

The Government is, in effect, providing information and advice free for the manufacturer of ordinary resources, which under other conditions would be at the disposal of only the most powerful organizations. Coupled with the activities of the Federal Trade Commission, the agitation for a merchant marine, and improved bank credits, this new efficiency is prophetic of a government leadership as contrasted with transforming methods. In this one instance, at least, the Government has shown up to advantage in an emergency. It is the sort of service that there must be more of in the future.

FOUND A LIVING IN BOXES

Recovered and Decorated, They Furnish a Woman with Comfortable Income—Their Many Uses.

Whoever would have thought, looking at cast-off shoe boxes, corset boxes, eyeglass boxes and handboxes, that in them lay the foundation for a profession?

There is a woman in New York, living a few doors off Fifth avenue, who was obliged to support herself and who saw her opportunity in plain cardboard boxes. She had been an artist, a portrait painter, in comfortable circumstances. Suddenly she was thrown on her own resources.

She gathered together all the boxes available and covered them neatly with the prettiest wall paper she could find. Then she sold them. Now her friends send her all the empty boxes that are eligible after a wedding has taken place in their midst.

"But who wants boxes covered with wall paper?" exclaimed a curious inquirer.

"Lots of people, particularly women" was the reply. "They want art boxes in which to stow away their shirt-waists, instead of having to keep them in the plain boxes in which they come. And they want them to put presents in instead of putting the latter in unattractive plain boxes. Yes, I have quite a large clientele."

A visit to her workshop proved this fact. There were a number of automobiles standing outside and the customers lingered over her wares with an interest that was not lessened by the fact that the box maker had created no surroundings of luxury into which to receive them. She evidently lacked the habit of her enterprise with close riggings and decks cleared for activity.

"I have got so now," continued the Box Lady, "that I make them to order. At first it was difficult, the careful mitering and all that, but now I do it quite neatly—see?" So neatly, indeed, that the work was perfect. "I got up at 5 o'clock this morning to fill an order given me by a woman late yesterday afternoon. It was to be a confinner for a pillow for a bride prize. One of my orders consisted of 12 boxes made to fit a linen closet. They were flower covered and lacquered. The boxes were made to hold different classes of linen, for instance, sheets and towels, etc.

"Another woman ordered boxes to fit her traveling hamper. These were of different sizes, for blouses and handkerchiefs. When she arrived at her destination everything was already nicely classified, you see, and all she had to do was to take them out of the hamper in their boxes, instead of picking out of her underwear and handkerchiefs all from the same tray."—New York Sun.

CHEMICAL CALLED OUT

The auto chemical was called out Sunday afternoon to extinguish a blaze in the house occupied by Walter Lynskey at 142 State street. The Flying Squad put out the blaze by chopping away part of the burning floor, no water being necessary.

The fire is thought to have been smoldering for about four hours before it was discovered by Mr. Lynskey. The only probable cause known is that it started from a spark flying into a waste basket which was emptied into the stove earlier in the day. The damage is slight and is covered by insurance.

WOMAN PASSES CENTURY MARK

MRS. MARY R. PIKE OF NEWFIELD, N. H., RECEIVES GENERAL CONGRATULATIONS

Mrs. Mary R. Pike, who became a centenarian on Saturday, the only one in Rockingham County, was born in the present Newfields, then part of Newmarket, the eighth of the 12 children of Rev. John and Mary (Dodge) Broadhead. Two died in early childhood. Of the others some attained extreme age, a few well into the 90's, and several achieved distinction. Her mother was a Lisbon woman and became a nonagenarian.

Her father served in Congress in 1829-33 and became the intimate friend of President Jackson, who appointed his son John to an important treasury post, which he filled for 40 years or more. This son made liberal bequests to Newfield's Public Library and effected the change of the town's name from South Newmarket to Newfields.

Mrs. Pike was educated at the former academy in Newfields, long ago transferred to Wilbraham, Mass. She has been a zealous Methodist since the age of 15 and still often attends its services. She spent a day at the fledgling camp meeting just closed and for more than half a century has been a punctilious attendant at these meetings except in 1895, when her husband, Rev. James Pike, died, far advanced in the 80's.

He had served as presiding elder in every district of the state, commanded in the Civil War the 16th New Hampshire Regiment, in which a son served, and in 1871 was the Republican candidate for Governor of New Hampshire, defeated by James A. Weston, Democrat.

In view of the service of her husband and son in the Civil War, of her brother, Thornton Broadhead, in the Mexican War and as colonel of the 1st Michigan Cavalry in the Civil War, and of a grandson, James O. Pike, in the war with Spain, Mrs. Pike is naturally deeply interested in the war now convulsing Europe.

Mrs. Pike has the appearance of a much younger woman. Her hearing is defective, but her mind is alert and her general health remarkable. She presides over a stately old house on the main street of the village, where her father established his home in 1821.

With her lives a daughter, an only surviving child, Mrs. Charles B. Kendall. There are two grandsons, James O. Pike of New York and Edward Kendall of San Francisco, and two granddaughters, Mrs. Frank B. Locke of Boston and Mrs. Franklin O. Pease of Mt. Vernon, N. Y. Saturday was the 18th birthday of a great grandson, John Locke, which Mrs. Pike thinks more important than her own notable anniversary. There was no formal observance, but she received calls, congratulations and remembrances.

TO PUT CASE UP TO EXPORTERS

IMPORTANCE OF BIG CREDIT TO BE IMPRESSED UPON TRADE

New York, Sept. 11.—To smooth the ways for launching a mammoth credit loan in this country to Great Britain and France and probably Russia and Italy, the Anglo-French financial commission. It was said today, probably will meet the chief exporters of grain and other commodities from this country.

Whether the makers of munitions are among these exporters could not be ascertained.

It had previously been thought that the commission would deal with bankers and financiers alone. The proposal that it meet the exporters as well in order that the actual shippers of American supplies may realize the importance of the work is understood to have been received with general favor.

As yet, however, no definite plans of procedure have been formulated.

A meeting with exporters, if finally decided on, would be arranged with a view to strengthening the demand from that quarter that a way be found toward cooperating with the commission informally, in arranging the contemplated credit here.

As yet there has been no apparent widespread demand that the banks of the country unite in financing a loan of half a billion dollars or more with which to pay for supplies bought in this country.

The impression exists that unless such a demand can be created the commission will find its task an onerous one.

The commission, it was said, was prepared to place squarely before the exporters the possible results to the export trade of the United States should it be impossible to find a way to establish a big foreign credit here.

"Heavy curtailment of foreign orders in everything but munitions of war, the commission believes, would follow the failure to float the loan."

For several days to come, it was said, the commission expects to continue its meetings here with financiers of New York and other cities before beginning its actual labors. No conferences were held today.

Most of the members went to the Long Island shore to rest over Sunday.

Yesterday, the day of their arrival, was a strenuous one, beginning with their meeting with J. P. Morgan, including their selection of hotel quarters and a reception in the afternoon where 100 or more leading men of New York were presented, and ending late at night with a dinner given them by a party of bankers.

The commissioners were much fatigued by their unusual exertions and slept late today.

TOBEY HELD IN $1,000 BAIL

PLEADS GUILTY OF BREAKING IN TO COTTAGE IN KITTERY, SEPT. 6.

Deputy Sheriff Harry E. Roberts Saturday arrested Earl C. Tobey of Kittery Point on the charge of breaking and entering a cottage on the Pollett Gorris estate the night of Sept. 6, when Mrs. Wygant, wife of Lieut. Henryard B. Wygant, U. S. N., who was occupying the cottage for the summer, was aroused by the clothing being pulled from her bed.

She awoke to see a man whom she could not recognize in the darkness run from the house. Later some clothing missing from the house was found in Tobey's possession.

Saturday afternoon before Judge Justin H. Shaw, he pleaded guilty and was held in $1,000 for the September term of court. In default of bail he was committed to the Alfred jail. Tobey is employed on the tug Mitchell Davis at Kittery Point.

"PEG O' MY HEART"

Oliver Morosco's delightful comedy, "Peg O' My Heart," which will shortly be seen at the Colonial Theatre on Saturday evening, Sept. 18, proves conclusively that New York can still laugh most heartily and sincerely at humor which is not coarse and risqué. This comedy recently concluded its second year at John Cor's beautiful theatre, in New York, which shows that a simple story, directly and simply told, is more potent than any plot fantastic, complex or merely outlandish. The play is described as a comedy of youth and love and is from the pen of J. Hartley Manners, who also wrote such wonderful successes as "Zira" and "The House Next Door." Mr. Morosco has given the play, that comes to this city a lavish mounting and supplied an excellent cast of players, including Dorothy Mackaye as "Peg," a role in which she toured with great success during the past season.

Commendable Governmental Action.

There are valid arguments to be advanced against government ownership of public utilities as a general proposition, and this paper believes, with a large majority of the people, that it is better to leave the railroads and other large public service enterprises in corporate hands rather than for the government to take them over and operate them, a step that is advocated by some who feel that the public would be better and more cheaply served if the government were in control.

But the course adopted by the government relative to the national parks must, it seems to us, commend itself to public approbation. Concessions in each of these parks will be restricted to a single individual or firm and the government will retain regulative powers and share in the profits. Under this arrangement the profits will be kept at a reasonable figure, the aim being to place the attractions of the parks within reach of the general public at costs of which there can be no complaint. The business includes transportation as well as hotel accommodations in the national parks, all of which will be under the regulation of the interior department.

The outline of the plan formulated for the Yosemite Valley will be of wide public interest. The concession has been granted to a San Francisco firm known as the Desmond Park Service Company, but, as before stated, the government will be a partner in the business, regulating prices and sharing the profits. A large hotel is to be built at the foot of the Yosemite Falls, and in other parts of the valley there will be smaller houses for the accommodation of tourists, similar to the celebrated Swiss chalets. These will be located at comfortable distances from each other, first-class accommodations will be provided and the charges will not be exorbitant. Practically the same policy will be followed in all of the national parks.

The propriety of this step is beyond question. These great parks belong to the people and it is proper that they should be able to visit them in comfort and without excessive cost. The trips will be expensive enough even under government regulation, but travelers will know that they are not being imposed upon and that the service rendered is being supplied at as low a cost as is practicable.

To governmental participation in business in this form and to this extent there will be no objection. On the other hand, it will be a source of general satisfaction, for it simply places the people in possession of their own.

Berlin says that if Ambassador Dumba only warned his countrymen against committing acts which the Austrian military penal code threatens to punish severely, that was not only his right, but also his duty. And the people of the United States say that the president in sending Mr. Dumba home was not only exercising his right, but also performing his duty.

Are we to have a war of automobile manufacturers? Henry Ford contributes $10,000,000 to the peace fund, and immediately the Packard Motor Company offers a bonus to all of its employees who participate in training camps or militia activities. But this is far preferable to the Dumba-Archibald program.

A number of midshipmen are to be dismissed from the Naval Academy at Annapolis for hazing. It is apparent that a few young fellows squeeze into an institution that is not a "reform school" for minor offenders against the laws, but whose proper place is in a reform school.

It is expected that Frederic C. Penfield, United States ambassador to Austro-Hungary, may receive his passports as a result of the Dumba incident. But the loss of his job will not trouble him and his wife in a financial way. The latter inherited a fortune of $60,000,000.

Henry Ford says his experience with men is that they never get into trouble when they are kept busy. That may be his experience, but it is not the experience of some others. How about the bank embezzlers and others occupying positions of activity and trust?

War Correspondent Archibald, Ambassador Dumba's private messenger, must also explain. And he should. His offense is one that tends to compromise a profession that is exceedingly jealous of its honor, besides stamping him as a bad American.

September has again demonstrated its capacity to throw in a little extra heat on occasion. If this sort of thing keeps up much longer corn will be not only ripened, but roasted.

If skirts are made short enough ankle watches will be a superfluity.

CURRENT OPINION

Americans Losing Vitality Because of Social and Mental Unrest.

We hear too much of the rights of the people, but too little of their duties. We spend untold millions in money and effort in trying to remove the stresses and strains of life. We spend relatively little in training youths to withstand stress and strain. We have lost virility and are becoming effeminated.

A nation's breakdown is foreshadowed by increasing degeneration in its citizens. Frequently the degenerates themselves, over-refined, over-cultured, over-sensitive, mistake disease for health and interpret as signs of progress things which really prognosticate racial death.

There is more social and mental unrest today in America than there has ever been before in its history and as much as there has ever been anywhere at any time in the world's history.

This unrest is interpreted to indicate robust national mental health, great independence of mind and superior intelligence or neuroticism and hysteria, according to the point of view of the observer.—By Dr. Charles W. Burr, Professor of Mental Diseases, University of Pennsylvania.

PEOPLES' OPINION

He Wants to Know

Editor:

There seems to have been a number of hot air explosions recently without fatal results. Several "mechanics" have told what they know and what they don't know about air and pumps. It is my theory that in connecting up and placing a suction hose in the water, that more or less air gets in and is worked out in the first few strokes of the pump. If there is no leak in the suction and all connections are in perfect condition (as they should be on entering a contest), I would like some of those "mechanics" to tell me how any more air is going to get into the pumps. I don't profess to know it all and am only asking for information.

WOMEN TO GIVE DEFENSE PAGEANT

Washington, Sept. 12.—A great historic pageant is to be given in the National capital this fall to arouse interest in national defense. It will be staged under the direction of the woman's section of the Navy League.

Already more than 5,000 persons, many of them prominent in society and in the theatrical profession, have consented to take part. One thousand school children from Washington's public schools and detachments from the army and navy and from the national guard and naval militia stationed in the vicinity of the national capital also will participate.

Preston Gibson, playwright and a chairman has volunteered as one of the directors and has promised to obtain the services of a number of social leaders. Albert B. Lambert of St. Louis director of the famous pageant recently given here will be associated with Mr. Gibson, as will also Percy Mackaye and Ralph Beaver Strassburger, directors in charge of the league's work at Washington.

David Belasco, Julia Marlow and Col. George Harvey will be among the judges of the scenario contest, to be held in connection with the pageant.

The managers plan to introduce the subject of national defense in the scene and emphasize the importance of preparedness as much as possible. Any person can enter this contest, the only stipulation that the manuscripts deal with the country's history and he is the navy league's headquarters here by October 10, when the contest will close.

The Woman's section of the league also is planning to hold a great conference of women here about November 15 to advocate better defenses to the United States. This will be the first gathering of its kind ever held here.

Mr. William Cummings Story, president general of the Daughters of the American Revolution and many others of the national officers and members of the defense League and it is expected that the conference will be held in Memorial Continental Hall.

BERNSTORFF HOPES TO PAVE WAY FOR A SETTLEMENT

Washington, Sept. 12.—Count von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, returned to Washington today to initiate formal discussion with the American government supplementary to the note from the Berlin foreign office regarding the sinking of the Arabic, with the hope of paving the way for formal negotiations for adjustment of the situation, growing out of the loss of American lives in the tragedy. He expects to see Secretary Lansing tomorrow.

The ambassador is optimistic in spite of the growing serious concern here over the state of relations between the United States and the German allies, following the receipt of a disappointing note from Germany on the Arabic and the request for the recall of Ambassador Dumba of Austria. It is held in German circles that the Arabic note with its reiteration of the announcement that submarines are under orders not to sink peaceful liners without warning is in accord with assurances already given the state department and confidence is felt that the question can come up for arbitration as regards reparation.

High officials of the administration were heard today regarding the entire situation. President Wilson and Secretary Lansing are considering the testimony of survivors of the Arabic, all tending to show that the Arabic was torpedoed without warning while proceeding peacefully on the high seas, in connection with the German note declaring the submarine commander launched his torpedo because the liner's actions convinced him he was about to be attacked. Belief is expressed in official circles that while the German explanation is considered weak and unsatisfactory the United States will consent to the proposal that the question be arbitrated on condition that discussion be limited to the question of fact as to whether the submarine commander was justified without involving the general principle for which this government has contended.

The German memorandum on the Orinosa case reached the state department during the day but was not decided in time for consideration.

It is thought by high officials here that the Berlin government declares that the torpedo that missed the Orinosa was fired in the belief that the vessel was not a passenger-carrying ship.

Nothing has been heard officially from Vienna today regarding Dr. Dumba. Press dispatches stating that the ambassador would be recalled without making an issue of his right to plan Austro-Hungarian strikes in American munition plants, were accepted as accurate. Notice of his recall would be given through Ambassador Penfield at Vienna.

So far the administration has taken no step toward acting against Austrian Consul General Alexander von Nuber at New York and Captain Von Pappe, the German military attaché, who were involved in Dumba's plans. Both could be dealt with without communicating with the respective governments. A suggestion to the German ambassador that Captain von Pappe was undesirable would result in his removal, while mere cancellation of exequaturs would leave Von Nuber without official position.

"HIGH JINKS"

"High Jinks," the musical jollity which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Colonial Theatre Thursday, Sept. 16, is the joint production of two men whose men are already eminent in the field of stage entertainment, and who are credited with reaching their respective climaxes in the musical comedy, which ran for a whole season at the Casino in New York.

Otto Hauerbach, responsible for "Three Twins" and "Madame Sherry," furnished the books and lyrics, and Rudolf Friml, composer of "The Firefly," supplied the musical score. Among the musical numbers that have become highly popular with the orchestra and in the dance halls are, "Something Seems 'Tingle-tingle-tingle," "Jim," "Love's Own Kiss," "I'm Through With Roaming Romeo's," "Chit-Clit," "Not Now But Later," "Come Hither Eyes," and "I Know Your Husband Very Well." A chorus of pretty and richly gowned girls, rounds out a company which includes some of the best known entertainers on the American stage.

TO THE VOTERS OF THE FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT:

At the request of many of my friends in the District I have decided to become a candidate for the nomination of Representative to Congress from this District in the Primaries to be held next June.

My platform will be the platforms adopted at the next Republican National Convention and the next Republican State Convention, which platforms, I trust, will be sufficiently broad to unite all factions of our party, to revise the tariff, by commission or otherwise, so as to protect the wage earners of our land, and to so increase our army and navy as to guarantee the protection of our citizens in their lives, liberty and property and command the respect of our Country at home and abroad.

I make no special claim, except my long legislative experience, for the nomination as to my qualifications over and above hundreds of other business men in the District, but if my candidacy commends itself to your good judgment, I shall value very highly your influence and support.

Very respectfully,

HORACE MITCHELL.

PROGRESSIVES AND REPUBLICANS TO UNITE

Bull Moose Party in York County, Me. will Return to the Fold.—Dr. White Addressed Politicians at Mitchell Dinner.

The Progressives of York County, Maine, are back in the Republican fold if statements and assertions made Saturday afternoon at the Hotel Champernowne, at the dinner presided at by Hon. Horace Mitchell, may be assumed as at all authentic. The dinner was the occasion of a gathering of about one hundred and seventy-five members of the Republican party from all towns in York County. The towns represented were Alfred, Biddeford, Buxton, Clark's Mills, East Waterboro, Eliot, Hollis, Kennebunk, Kennebunkport, Kittery, Lebanon, Limington, Lyman, Newfields, North Berwick, Ogunquit, Old Orchard, South Berwick, Wells and York.

Throughout the forenoon, the Republicans invited including the York County members of the district committee, the members of the York County committee, the chairmen and secretaries of the several town committees, the members of the Legislature and others, arrived at Kittery Point by train, trolley and automobile. On the broad verandas of the Champernowne and under the trees on the shores, they gathered in little groups talking of many things and particularly of politics.

After the serving of dinner at which

Mr. Mitchell presided, Dr. Andrew D. White was introduced to the guests. Mr. White was the first president of Cornell University and has been Ambassador of the United States to Russia and Minister to Germany. He is a student of political economy and is well acquainted with the political situation in Maine as well as the entire country. In his remarks Mr. White spoke of some of the great statesmen who were Maine men, mentioning his close acquaintance with the late Thomas B. Reed and James G. Blaine. He also spoke of William Pitt Fessenden, and his career as a statesman, saying that the people of Maine should erect a monument to his memory.

Mr. Mitchell then formally announced his candidacy for the Republican nomination for the first Maine district, and asked the support of those present. Mr. Mitchell pointed out the fact that Maine was at one time a great power in National politics and should be made so again. He emphasized the point that the Republican party should be brought back to the standard set by Abraham Lincoln and that it can be done by the right men.

Another speaker at the dinner was State Senator Aaron B. Cole of Kittery. The guests present pledged their support to Mr. Mitchell's candidacy for the Republican nomination.

Among those present were several men who had been prominent in the Progressive party. These men announced their intention of again uniting with the "Mother" party.

The afternoon was taken up by the guests visiting the points of interest about Kittery Point.

"HIGH JINKS"

The "fired neutral" is promised a tonic in "High Jinks," which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Colonial Theatre Thursday, Sept. 16. Rudolf Friml has furnished a musical score, whose numbers are said to be light, airy, tuneful and catchy. A plot, said to be invigorating to the highest degree, was contributed by Otto Hauerbach, who added "Three Twins" and

A Scene From "HIGH JINKS."

"Madame Sherry" to the world of gaiety. The story has to do with a magic perfume which raises whomsoever gets a whiff of it to the seventh heaven of bliss. An American nerve specialist practicing in Paris tries his virtues on a young female patient, and it operates so well that the young woman throws her arms around his neck and kisses him rapturously. Her husband witnesses the proceedings, and, skeptical of the magic of the perfume, decrees that either the doctor shall die or else surrender Mrs. Doctor to him to pay him for his loss and kiss. The doctor agrees to the latter proposition, but seeks to delude the French man by passing off a young actress as his wife. The plot becomes more and more intricate and more and more hilarious, after the manner of farce, as the play proceeds. Besides a large handsomely-gowned chorus of pretty girls who laugh and sing and dance their way through the piece, the company includes a score of well-known entertainers.

OLD LIMB BLOCKS AUSTIN STREET.

A big limb of one of the trees in front of the Parochial school on Austin street broke last evening, blocking the street with the exception of a small archway through the branches and leaves high and wide enough for an auto to pass through. The tree is old and although the limb is covered with live branches and leaves it is rotted to such an extent as to be nearly dead. The small branches at the end of the limb crashed against the house opposite, occupied by Caleb H. Currier at 119 Austin street. Although no damage was done to the house Mr. Currier and his family received quite a start as the house was badly shaken. The telephone and light company were notified by the police department as it was thought their wires were endangered.

THE MAN WHO WINS

"The man who wins is the average man. Not built on any peculiar plan; Nor blessed with any special luck—Just steady and earnest and full of pluck."

"When asked a question he does not 'guess'—He knows and answers 'No' or 'Yes'—When set a task that the rest can't do He buckles down till he's put it through."

"So he works and waits till one fine day—There's a better job with bigger pay—And the man who shirked whenever they could Are bossed by the man whose work made good."

"For the man who wins is the man who works—Who neither lingers nor troubles shirks—Who uses his hands, his head, his eyes—The man who wins is the man who tries."

(The above was contributed from Burley, Ida.)

The Hampton Beach carnival came to an end with one of the largest crowds of the week.

GROWS MORE POPULAR DAILY

"Neal of the Navy" a Record Breaker in Popularity With the Leading Motion Picture Theatres.

When the pictures in the first episode of "Neal of the Navy" were shown in the motion picture theatres one week ago last Thursday, interest was at once aroused, and the pictures in the second episode, which were shown in these same theatres last week greatly intensified this first interest.

Although only two episodes have so far been thrown upon the screens of the leading motion picture theatres, "Neal of the Navy" already ranks as the most popular motion picture serial being shown in New England. The motion picture theatres requesting bookings for this great serial are important in their demands for dates, and although the pictures have been released only two weeks ago, the demand for them from the managers of the various motion picture theatres is breaking all records in the New England states.

People who have been reading "Neal of the Navy" have become fascinated with the adventures of the dashing young hero, Neal, and with the fortunes of the beautiful and charming heroine, Annette, in her efforts to claim her fortune on Last Isle. The story increases in interest daily, and many readers are impatient to obtain the installments published.

Not only is this great adventure story of gripping interest, but it has for its background the United States Navy, and all the pictures of naval scenes or of events on the big warships which appear in the motion picture presentation of this great serial have been made with the sanction and approval of the Secretary of the Navy.

With the interest that now attaches to all matters naval and military in this country, the story is timely, and is bound to enthrall the patriotic. Some how everybody likes a boy hero, and the hero in this clean and thrilling story is a naval cadet, a man, doing his best to protect the interests of the girl he loves. There is the romance of the sea, the charm of the scenery about the lonely islands of the old Spanish main, and adventures that thrill in every chapter.

In the theatres which showed the pictures of the second episode last week, Miss Lillian Lorraine, a popular Broadway favorite, and William Courtleigh, Jr., also a New York favorite, appeared for the first time in the pictures as the heroine and hero of the story. Miss Lorraine made a charming Annette, and her great personal beauty had its appeal in the films. Mr. Courtleigh fully realized the popular expectations of what the young hero should be. There was work enough in the episode for both of them to display their ability, and that they "made good" was plain to the eyes of the audience at every presentation of the pictures.

The second installment, the story of which was run in this paper last week will be shown exclusively at the Portsmouth Theatre today. Portsmouth people are fortunate in having a theatre manager who is enterprising enough to show the great picture only three days later than the biggest houses in the country.

FAMILY FOOD

Crisp, Toothsome and Requires No Cooking

A little boy down in North Carolina asked his mother to write an account of how Grape-Nuts food had helped their family.

"While I was there I used the food regularly. I gained weight and felt so well that when I returned home I began using Grape-Nuts in the family regularly."

"My little eighteen months-old baby shortly after being weaned was very ill while teething. She was sick nine weeks and we tried everything. She became so emaciated that it became painful to handle her and we thought we were going to lose her. One day a happy thought urged me to try Grape-Nuts soaked in a little warm milk."

"Well, it worked like a charm and she began taking it regularly and improvement set in at once. She has grown well and round and fat as possible on Grape-Nuts."

"Something else several of the family were stricken with La Grippe at the same time and during the worst stages they could not relish anything in the shape of food but Grape-Nuts and oranges, everything else was nauseating."

"We all appreciate what your famous food has done for our family."

IS READY TO ENLIST AGAIN

HARRY E. HOWARD OF THIS STATE, SERVED THROUGH CIVIL WAR.

"As long as countries are found to go to war with each other, we are sure if we do not strengthen the forts and all harbors, and the more war and airships, torpedo destroyers and submarines we have, the less danger we shall be in of being attacked by other countries."

The speaker was Harry E. Howard, drummer boy through the Civil War. He tried to enlist as bugler in the Spanish War of 1898. Mr. Howard lives at his pleasant farmhouse at Stoddard, N. H., while he is on vacation from his tour throughout the United States.

"We don't want war, of course, but I believe that after this great conflict in Europe we are surely in danger, no matter who wins. The United States Government should be prepared."

"We do not want to act as though we were cowards. We never have been cowardly, and I thoroughly believe that we have the most courageous men in the world, the best government and the handsomest flag that ever floated over land or sea—the flag I always proudly saluted."

Harry E. Howard was born in Springfield, Mass., and enlisted as a drummer boy when 12 years of age, in the 11th U. S. Infantry. He had to say he was an orphan and older than he really was. He served through the Civil War, being a bugler from 1862 to 1865 and was in the battles of Fredericksburg, Chancellorsville, Antietam, second Bull Run and Gettysburg.

At Mine Run he was taken prisoner, and put on Belle Island for three months. Together with others he was sent in box cars to Andersonville Stockade, in March, 1864. In September was sent to Savannah, where he made his escape.

Howard and five soldiers tunneled through the ground and came out in the woods. He became separated from the soldiers and was taken very ill, wandered for miles through forests and swamps and finally was so exhausted that he lay down to die. He was found by two freed negroes and after six weeks of convalescence he was smuggled to the Union lines and sent to a hospital at Annapolis and later to Elmira, N. Y., where he received an honorable discharge.

He enlisted as bugler in 1898, but was refused on account of age. He has travelled as a veteran drummer boy and comedian for 30 years. His wife and son, Albert Lincoln Howard, also live at Stoddard and run the farm.

He pays a high tribute to President Wilson for his attitude in the present crisis and states that although he and his family pray that the United States may never again be at war, yet he and his sons will be ready to enlist promptly when needed.

COACH AT NOTRE DAME FACES A DIFFICULT TASK

New York, Sept. 12.—Jesse C. Harper, coach of the Notre Dame eleven, faces the very difficult task of building a championship team with lightest and greenest team material that the Indiana College has offered in many years. But Harper isn't really discouraged.

"Some of the Sophomores may develop quickly into real stars," said Harper, "and I am sure that before the season gets very far along I can weld together together a team that will be a credit to Notre Dame."

Only five of the 1914 regulars the June graduates. And only five of the 15 second string men of last year are available for duty now.

Coffal, a heady player, a good punter and drop kicker is among the few stars that are left of the 1914 team. He weighs 178 and is a wonder either at halfback or quarter. He is a certainty for one of the backfield positions. Elward, one of last year's star ends, is back. He weighs only 145 pounds, but he's as fleet as a deer and will be a regular.

Harper doesn't need to worry about the center of his line. The three regulars of last year—Keefer, left guard, Bachmann, right guard, and Fitzgerald, at center, are holdovers and this trio constitutes a powerful factor on the defense.

Line Candidates Look Good
Ward, a 190 pounder and 6'6", 175 pounds, probably will land the inside positions. Both got a lot of experience last year as first string substitutes. Benyan, who performed some spectacular feats when subbing in 1914, looks good enough to put off with Elward on the wings.

BOSTON LETTER

Boston, Sept. 13.—Efforts of some local politicians to connect the Equal Suffrage campaign with the Prohibition issue has failed and the Massachusetts Woman Suffrage Association has issued a statement which says in part: "Our opponents are trying to make it appear that we are identical with two elements in the political life of our state that are irreconcilably opposed to each other—the prohibition element and the liquor element. Frank Foxcroft, official advocate of the Anti-Suffrage Association, is trying to link up woman suffrage with the so-called 'Liquor interests.' The Massachusetts Liquor League on the other hand is busily attacking woman suffrage and working officially in the interests of Anti-Suffrage association. The Liquor League takes the opposite view from that of Mr. Foxcroft and contends that we are the enemies of liquor. They are soliciting funds from liquor dealers to defeat the suffrage amendment. Our association does not make a stand against Prohibition, neither does it take a stand for Prohibition. We have only one plank in our platform and that is 'Votes for Women.' We are non-partisan and we must remain so. There is a Prohibition party ticket before the voters of Massachusetts this fall, that will handle the Prohibition question as a party question. While we welcome the vote of every Prohibitionist in the state we have thousands of loyal friends in every other party, and look to them for votes. We want all the votes that we can honestly get, and we propose to get them by adhering strictly to our 65-year old attitude as a non-partisan organization. No fair-minded man in the state will ask us to do otherwise. Why has the Massachusetts Liquor League officially identified itself with the Anti-Suffrage campaign? We think the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Catholic Total Abstinence Society, the Massachusetts Total Abstinence Society, the Anti-Saloon League, the Stephan, 155 pounds, a substitute last year, shows possibilities. O'Donnell is the other substitute left over. He's a 165 pound center.

The backfield is what will cause Harper his greatest trouble. Graduation robbed him of all his backfield regulars with the exception of Coffal. The line smashing Eichenlaub is gone; so are Pillsbury, Bergman, Kellner, Duggan, Ginnigan and Berger. And their going has forced Harper to the extreme of plugging up three backfield holes with light weight "freshies" of 1914.

Backfield Candidates Too Light
On paper the backfield candidates look extremely punk. On the field, after a few weeks of practice, they may look better—but it's doubtful.

The three candidates for quarter-back are Phelan, 160 pounds, Bergman, 150 and Dorias, 140. All of them seem too light. Bergman is a brother of the backfield Bergman of 1914 and Dorias is a brother of the wonderful Notre Dame quarterback of 1913.

Jones is the leading candidate for fullback, but he is extremely slow. The others who will fight for jobs back of the line are Malone, 150 pounds, Miller, 155 and Shackford, 160.

"If one of the new candidates for the guard positions show up well, I may give him a job on the line and switch Bachmann from guard to fullback," said Harper. "All the backfield material is extremely light. But the men are fast—there is no denying that. I'd like to have a backfield averaging around 170 or 175 but it doesn't look as if I'll get one. So I'll just go ahead with what I've got and try to make speed replace our lack of brawn."

Prohibitionists, in fact every voter in Massachusetts, would like to know the truth about the Anti-Suffrage Association's most active friend the Massachusetts Liquor League.

Seafaring men and officers of the United States navy are unanimous in their plea for a clear way, marked and patrolled through Nantucket and Vineyard sounds. A hearing on the matter has been held before the Boston Chamber of Commerce's special committee, Commodore J. W. Miller, vice president of the Cape Cod Canal Company in a letter said that there have been 2000 wrecks and 700 lives lost rounding the cape in the last forty years, and that every year 25,000,000 tons of shipping makes this perilous passage. Col. John Mills, U. S. Engineer, who conducted the hearing, announced in closing the meeting that it seemed to be the general verdict that the clearway was practicable and desirable, not only through the sound, but to the islands. He promised to outline a plan after the suggestion of the Department of Commerce, with the general route added and to furnish formulae rules, after which another hearing may be given to obtain opinions on the concrete proposition.

NOW COMES THE HESITATION SCHOTTISCHE

"High Jinks," the musical comedy which Arthur Hammerstein will present at the Colonial Theatre on Thursday evening, Sept. 16, depends for its hilarity on a magic perfume which sets everybody in a frenzy of delight. In the first act when the scene begins to operate there is produced a marvelous dance tune, which one reviewer of the piece at the Casino, New York, described as a "Hesitation Schottische." He added that it "has this advantage for tea-dance amateurs that it is so taking it almost dances itself." What is described as the most amazing dance number on the contemporary stage is the "High Jinks Wriggle," which occurs at the close of the second act. The entire company, including the large and gaily-dressed chorus, participate.

THE ONLY TRUE SOURCE OF LIFE ETERNAL

Christ's Human Life-Rights Imputed to Church, Given to World.

Divine Method of Selecting the Church. Deep Spiritual Truths a Cause of Separation—How We Eat Our Lord's Flesh—The Class That Drink His Blood—Our Lord's Life Laid Down at Calvary—The Merit of His Sacrifice to Be Given to the World Soon. Imputed to the Church Now.

(PASTOR RUSSELL)

Sept. 12.—Pastor Russell, delivered as usual an able, dress today, from the text, "Lord, to whom shall we go? Thou hast the words of eternal life."—John 6:33. The setting of the text formed the introduction to the theme. Then the speaker explained God's method of selecting the Church of Christ, as outlined in Scripture. For nearly nineteen centuries God has been gathering a "little flock" out of all nations and denominations. With the close of this Age these faithful ones shall be made like their Lord on the spirit plane, and with Him shall be given great power for the purpose of bringing mankind back to human perfection. Not by pushing, not by thundering or impetuosity, but by the magnet of His Word, passing throughout the world, God has drawn to Himself the class He seeks. "These hot only make a covenant with Him, but keep it. If they have fleshly weaknesses which they cannot overcome, He makes provision for these. He is looking at the heart, the New Creature."

Eating the Flesh of the Son of Man.
The Pastor explained in detail our Lord's words, "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of Man and drink His blood, ye have no life in you." (John 6:53.)

Our Lord's life was forfeited because of His disobedience; and all His children thus lost their right to life. Our Lord gave His flesh, His human nature, for Adam and all of his family. He laid down His flesh in order that the Adamite race might have the right to earthly existence. Jesus' new life is not earthly, not fleshly; He has a spirit body now. (1 Peter 3:13.) Therefore He has His fleshly life to give to the world. Never having forfeited His human life, He still has the right to it. But now, glorified on the spirit plane, He will give the merit of His human life to Adam and his race at the end of the Gospel Age.

There is a difference between laying life down and giving it. Our Lord has undertaken to give His human nature for Adam's human nature. He laid down His life at Calvary, but did not then give it. One might lay down a parcel in a store, intending to get it later and give it to one of the clerks. So eighteen hundred years ago Jesus laid down His life. He still has the right to it, but will soon give it up forever, as the offset for Father Adam. Then Divine Justice will turn over Adam and all his race to our Lord, who will take His great power and reign. He will have the right to bless the world for whom He laid down His life at Calvary when He gave that life to Jehovah.

At the beginning of the Messianic Age all accounts on the books of Justice against Adam and his race will be canceled, and the great work of blessing mankind will begin. During that time Jesus will give them His flesh to eat, the merits of His sacrifice, that they may take on all those perfect human qualities which He laid down. Throughout the Incoming Age mankind will eat His flesh—appropriate to the human blessings which He sacrificed for them. Those who build character worthy of everlasting life will receive that life at the end of the Age. Those who fail to build character in harmony with the Divine requirements will be cut off in the Second Death—annihilation as unworthy of everlasting life.

Drinking the Blood of the Son of Man.
To the Church are now given by faith the blessings which the world will receive actually by and by. The Church accept the Divine invitation to leave the world and become New Creatures in Christ, begotten to the spirit nature, and finally to be born of the Spirit—made like our Lord. But before they can do this, Jesus' merit must be imputed to them. That is, the human perfection which mankind will actually receive during the Millennium is imputed, counted, to the Church now by faith. Thus the Church are by faith eating the flesh of the Son of Man.

But the Church are to do more than this. They are to drink His blood—give up their human life, drink of His sacrificial cup, participate in His sufferings and His death in order to enjoy His glory. Whoever becomes a joint-sacrificer with Jesus gives up all his rights to the earthly nature. As the Father gave our Lord the higher life, so He has promised that whoever will follow in Jesus' steps will also receive the heavenly life. The agreement to drink our Lord's blood—to share in His sufferings and death—is the special Covenant which brings us into the family of God. This is called the Covenant by Sacrifice.

FAREWELL TO PARISHIONERS ON SUNDAY

Both Priests of the Local Parish Are Transferred.

Rev. Frank A. Mulvanity, acting pastor of the Church of the Immaculate Conception for the past fourteen months, announced on Sunday at the services that he would conclude his duties here this week, and that his assistant the Rev. George M. Dargie, had also received orders transferring him from this parish.

Father Mulvanity will shortly take up his duties as chaplain at the orphan asylum at Manchester, and Father Dargie who received later orders to report at St. Martin's church, Somersworth instead of Rochester, will leave Portsmouth on Tuesday.

Father Mulvanity has since the death of the late Rev. Edward J. Walsh, P. R., been administrator of the parish and has during the temporary appointment labored indefatigably for the best interests of the parish and its people. For several months he was obliged to carry out the many duties alone, until a regular assistant was appointed. During his pastorate he worked early and late and has always had the business affairs as well as the religious duties of the parish well in hand. He is one of the youngest priests of the diocese to be appointed administrator of such a large parish and there is no doubt that he will be able to give a good account of his stewardship.

On Sunday he announced with much feeling his sincere appreciation of the hearty cooperation of the parishioners in all the work during his administration and closed with a farewell to the large congregations that listened to his parting words. He expects to leave this city the last of the week when the permanent rector will assume charge.

Both he and his assistant take with them the best wishes of the Portsmouth people for a long, happy and successful life of labor in the Lord's vineyard.
